PA NEW C OBSERVES

Wonder if the good women of the city are keeping in mind the various ingathering of fruit, vegetables and food stuffs this fall for the Alms Home? October 16 has been designated as the day of collection and it is anticipated that many a jar or glass of goodies will find its way into the larder of this splendid home for aged women.

E. C. Gardner, painter, of 1613 Bradley avenue, brought a monstrous caterpillar to The News office this morning, which was unlike any seen around these parts. It was about four inches in length and as big around as a man's finger. It was a dark green color and was covered with coarse white hair, with a row of yellow spots along the lower side. Its back ended in a saddle-shaped horny plate. It was probably the larva of one of the larger moths.

With rain sadly needed again by gardens, a meager shower was all that could be squeezed out of the clouds last evening.

For the first time in local history persons on the downtown street corners could get a glimpse of the circus trains being unloaded and the big tents being erected. Use of the Rosena furnace site for the circus brought the show almost into the heart of the downtown business district.

For the first time since the space at the foot of Mercer street has been established as a free parking lot by the city, the place was filled with automobiles today. The circus was the main attraction of course. People could park their cars on the (Continued On Page Two)

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 19.—Mrs. Mark H. Shank, wife of the Akron, O., attorney who is alleged to have committed the "picnic poisoning" of four persons, arrived at her husband's side today following a 1,200-mile motor trip which was accomplished in a little more than 48 hours.

A dramatic meeting between the alleged prisoner and the wife who raced a third of the way across the continent to his aid took place at the Pulaski county jail. Shank vehemently reiterated his innocence and related a story of brutal beatings at the hands of Hot Springs officers who obtained his alleged confession, while Mrs. Shank listened unable to keep back her tears.
Shank is accused of poisoning Alvin Colley and his wife Ethel Colley and their two young boys because of fear of being involved in a theft he says Colley committed. Shank says a woman friend of Colley's threatened to reveal the theft and to involve Shank unless given $400.

WILL ROGERS says:

(Special To The News)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—I been working day and night since almost yesterday with this fellow Johnson on a code for comedians. He claims that senators and congressmen comes under our code. I claim theirs is a separate union, that they are professionals, and in a class by themselves, and that us amateur comedians should not be classed with 'em.
I hate to defy this NRA, but I am going to carry my fight to the country, because, according to his code, it would give work to some senators and congressmen, and I claim that's the only thing we don't want any more of.
So, it looks like I am really the first one to lock horns with this tough guy, Johnson, but I believe I got the people with me.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—So intent have NRA officials been on getting the great basic industries of the country under the wings of the blue eagle that the "little fellow", or small employer, has become almost the forgotten man in this peaceful industrial revolution.
Thus far all the concentration has been on the "big fellow"—steel, coal, oil, etc.—with scant attention to what might be called the marginal employer whose profits, if any, have been small in recent years and who now is confronted with great increases in his overhead if he subscribes to the code.

HOSPITAL, REPORT

Miss Marjorie McGeorge, 10-year-old daughter of Dr. C. K. McGeorge, pastor of the Second U. P. church, County Line street, was injured last Tuesday when the car of the McGeorge family wrecked on a Michigan highway while they were enjoying a vacation tour, it has been learned.

Word reaching here from Muskegon, Mich., said Miss McGeorge was taken to the Hackley hospital there following the accident. An x-ray was to be taken to determine the extent of her injuries.
The accident occurred, according to a letter received by friends here, at Whitehall, near Muskegon. They were driving along U. S. Route 31 at the time.
Reports said a tire is believed to have blown out, causing the car to veer off the concrete and into a ditch.
Dr. McGeorge and Mrs. McGeorge, riding in the car at the time suffered only minor scratches.
Friends here said the local pastor and his wife left on a motor tour a short time ago, joining their daughter a few days later at a summer school which she had been attending.

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—The agreement on the recovery administration and leaders of the steel industry on wages, hours and administration, follows:

"Wages—General increase of 15 percent has been made since July 1st. Minimum wages fixed in code are estimated by steel companies to exceed an average of forty cents (40c) per hour. A. to receive full information, with access to necessary records, to meet with board of directors of iron and steel institute upon administration of code and advise the president so as to provide assurance that code operation is in full compliance with the law, providing adequate protection of public interests and furnishing the basis for recommendations to the president as to continuation or modification of code after 90 days period of trial and determination of results."

Steel Industry Under Blue Eagle On 90-Day Basis

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—The great steel industry capitulated early today and agreed to come under the wings of the blue eagle on a temporary basis.
"Big steel" agreed to adopt the 40-hour week, averaged over a three-month period, with a maximum of 48 hours and a six day week. Wages will exceed an average of 40 cents an hour.

Announcement of the agreement was made in the early hours of this morning by Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator, after a lengthy session with heads of the industry and the labor advisory board. Johnson said the agreement had been read to President Roosevelt and approved by him.
Battling to the last, the steel operators agreed to the code only on a 90-day basis which is to be regarded as a trial period to determine the effect.
November first was fixed as the end of the trial period. On or after that date, as production reaches 60 percent capacity, all employees go on the 8-hour day except executives, technicians and those in supervisory capacity.

It was provided that three representatives of the NRA should have full information and access to records of the industry in order to assure that the conditions of the agreement were being met, and also (Continued On Page Two) the employer who for nearly four years of depression now has been struggling to meet his payroll and keep his head above water, is becoming more and more of a problem for the brains of NRA. As yet there is no answer, but unless some solution is found it is conceded that probably a good many small businesses will be forced out of competition, either through inability to compete with the bigger unit, or by public disfavor because of inability or unwillingness to abide by the codes. Should this collapse of small businesses attain serious proportions, considerable unemployment undoubtedly would result, thereby defeating the very purpose of the NRA.

Heads Puzzled.
The NRA heads are puzzling over the situation. Various suggestions have been considered. One that has not found much favor was that some sort of a modified blue eagle be adopted for these border-line cases, a blue eagle with a wound stripe, for example, indicating the employer's willingness to comply but indicating, too, that his economic situation is such that he cannot fully subscribe.

This was regarded as impracticable. It was doubted that any employer would want to flaunt in public his inability to subscribe to a code, and thus advertise his economic weakness.

All that has been done to date is to set up a policy bureau in the NRA, to which troubled employers may come for advice and interpretative dispensations upon presentation of their cases.

But the fact is that thus far the NRA chiefs have been so busy whipping the big fellows into line that they have not had the time or opportunity to consider the plight of the little fellow.

Johnson Speaks.
Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, the dynamic administrator, recently replied to a question along this line by stating with some impatience that he could not shed many tears over the case of the employer who couldn't pay the minimum wage of $14 or $15 a week and maintain the hours prescribed in the various codes. Thereby indicating that he considered such businesses uneconomic and inefficient anyway, and the sooner they were out of the industrial picture the better.

Members of congress representing small districts are beginning to hear from their constituents about it. And they in turn are telling NRA officials about it.

David L. Lawrence, chairman of the Allegheny County Democratic Committee will deliver the keynote address of the meeting, and the permanent chairman, George H. McWhorter of Westmoreland county escorted to the platform. Delegates to the Recovery Convention will be elected in the same fashion as are delegates to national political conventions. Each precinct in the county will elect ten delegates and ten alternates, with the ballots for their election being returned by August 23. The public is invited to attend the dinner and the convention.

The feature of the convention will be a debate on "The Merits and Demerits of the Roosevelt Administration." Mrs. Emma Guffey Miller, of Pittsburgh, State Committee Woman, and John H. Wilson of Butler, former congressman will uphold the merits of the administration while the exponents of the opposing side will be announced later. It is also possible that vote will be taken by the convention upon Democratic sentiment in the county and the possibilities of the repeal of the 18th amendment.

Invitations have been issued by Assemblyman William J. Eroe, Jr., to the following members of the Pennsylvania General Assembly, John J. Kane of Pittsburgh, Eugene A. Caputo of Ambridge, Anna Brancato of Philadelphia, the only woman Democratic legislator, H. P. Cohen of York, and M. C. Chervernak of Johnstown.

CROWD PRESENT AS EAGLES CELEBRATE 30TH ANNIVERSARY

by dancing and a speaking program in the Rainbow Terrace pavilion, signalled the end of a score and a half years of notable community service on the part of the lodge.

State Head Attends
State President James Mack came from DuBois to be with the lodge for the evening festivities. He spoke during a brief program which came shortly after 9 o'clock.

Overcast skies were largely responsible for the small crowd of guests at the dinner, but in the evening, despite the visible storm indications, the dancing crowd turned out on schedule. As the hours passed the crowd increased.

An athletic program was sponsored for the Eagles and their sons and daughters in the grove of park following dinner. Winners were presented prizes.

Mayor Speaks
Mayor Charles B. Mayne took the speakers' stand first last night to extend to the Eagles and their friends the official tribute of the city. Since it was organized on August 9, 1903, the mayor reminded, the New Castle serie has been giving splendid service in many ways.

Introduced to the dance crowd immediately after Mayor Mayne concluded his greetings, State President Mack voiced high praise for the arle in behalf of the state organization. He declared the Eagles organization in Pennsylvania today was 90,000 strong and in the nation, 650,000 strong. Of the efforts put forth by it for widows' assistance legislation and other like movements, he said "the Eagles order has instigated and had passed more humane legislation for this country than any other order."

The state chief also praised Worthy President George F. Anthony of the local serie.

Entertainers Appear
Mr. Anthony and Harry Evans, both well known singers, favored the audience with a vocal selection after Mr. Mack's talk. Judy Sypher accompanied them at the piano.

Another highlight was the floor show staged by a troupe of talented New Castle dancing girls. The regular park orchestra, playing for the evening's dance, assisted them. James Fee and his dancing partner won the prize waltz which took place later.

At 11 o'clock the dancers left the pavilion to watch the brilliant pyrotechnical display which the Eagles provided as additional entertainment. The feature of this was the burning displays of the Eagles emblem and the American flag.

Winners in the sports contest held early follow:
100 yard dash for boys, 15 years or older—Mike Ross
Horseshoe pitching contest—Mike Ross, first; Arthur Llewellyn, second

Fat man's race—Raymond Hockendener
50 yard dash for boys, 15 and under—Sam Bulanno
50 yard dash for girls under 15—Ruth Llewellyn

Two Strenuous Weeks
The next two weeks are going to be strenuous ones for them, as they will be brigaded with the other cavalry units to form war strength organizations and will go through real war-time maneuvers.

The boys will start their return trip from Mt. Gretna, September 1, arriving in Pittsburgh on Saturday morning, September 2, where they are to give an exhibition of rough riding and horsemanship at the Allegheny County Fair, during the day. They will arrive in New Castle late that evening.

Many of the troopers' wives, sweethearts, and friends are planning to motor to Mt. Gretna during the next two weeks to visit the boys, and they will likely have lots of company from New Castle during their short stay.

to meet with directors of the iron and steel institute to negotiate the continuance of the code after the 90-day trial period.

See Progress Now
Conclusion of the steel agreement, even on a temporary basis, was regarded with great satisfaction by NRA officials, for they believed it paved the way for agreements in the other basic industries which are still holding out.

The government held a trump card over the steel magnates by being in a position to withhold purchases of millions of dollars worth of steel and products necessary for naval building and other projects from those companies that refused to go along under the NRA.

The government is in the market, directly or through firms on government contracts, for steel on a scale exceeded only in World War days. When President Harding just after the World War, had difficulty in winning from U. S. Steel the abolition of the 12 hour day, he held no such trump. This is the first opportunity for government action when it had a trading point.

Only one or two navy building contracts have actually been signed. The government is therefore able to dictate terms on this impressive output.

Much Steel Needed
It is just launching other projects including housing, federal post offices or other buildings, involving an unestimated amount of steel or steel products. Bridges and other highway improvements will call for still other expenditures for steel.

All this extra business must, by decision of the president, be confined to those industrial units that play the recovery game fairly.

The oil code was to be submitted to the president for approval today. While Johnson had planned to ask the president's approval yesterday afternoon, vigorous protests and an effort to satisfy the oil industry leaders led to delay.

Virtually all other business was cast aside by the hard-hitting Johnson as he struggled to carry out the president's command for quick settlement of the battles with the big industries.

Spokesmen for the coal industry were summoned into meeting with Deputy Administrator K. M. Simpson after they had been told that the recovery administrator would write a coal code unless they agreed.

While Johnson was seeking an agreement on major codes, the NRA gleefully gave publicity to the enlistment of John D. Rockefeller Jr. and former Secretary of the Treasury Andrew Mellon in the recovery fight.

Conclusion of the steel agreement, even on a temporary basis, was regarded with great satisfaction by NRA officials, for they believed it paved the way for agreements in the other basic industries which are still holding out.

The government held a trump card over the steel magnates by being in a position to withhold purchases of millions of dollars worth of steel and products necessary for naval building and other projects from those companies that refused to go along under the NRA.

The government is in the market, directly or through firms on government contracts, for steel on a scale exceeded only in World War days. When President Harding just after the World War, had difficulty in winning from U. S. Steel the abolition of the 12 hour day, he held no such trump. This is the first opportunity for government action when it had a trading point.

Only one or two navy building contracts have actually been signed. The government is therefore able to dictate terms on this impressive output.

Much Steel Needed
It is just launching other projects including housing, federal post offices or other buildings, involving an unestimated amount of steel or steel products. Bridges and other highway improvements will call for still other expenditures for steel.

All this extra business must, by decision of the president, be confined to those industrial units that play the recovery game fairly.

The oil code was to be submitted to the president for approval today. While Johnson had planned to ask the president's approval yesterday afternoon, vigorous protests and an effort to satisfy the oil industry leaders led to delay.

Virtually all other business was cast aside by the hard-hitting Johnson as he struggled to carry out the president's command for quick settlement of the battles with the big industries.

Spokesmen for the coal industry were summoned into meeting with Deputy Administrator K. M. Simpson after they had been told that the recovery administrator would write a coal code unless they agreed.

While Johnson was seeking an agreement on major codes, the NRA gleefully gave publicity to the enlistment of John D. Rockefeller Jr. and former Secretary of the Treasury Andrew Mellon in the recovery fight.

Ohio Legislature Acts With Speed

Pledges $24,000,000 For Poor Relief During 1933 And 1934

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 19.—Twenty-four million dollars for poor relief during 1933 and 1934 was pledged by the state of Ohio to its needy unemployed today in a new schedule of taxes on soft drinks, beer, malt, amusements and cosmetics which the legislature enacted, except for two differences which are expected to be settled Tuesday.

In one of the swiftest jobs of legislating on record, which was speeded up to meet Governor George White's request for immediate funds, the program was passed within three days after the assembly convened in special session and within nine hours after debate opened.

EMPLOYMENT IS INCREASING

IT IS a matter of great satisfaction to know that employment is increasing and that wages are going up in Pennsylvania. These increases are not great, but they are significant. Figures have been compiled which show that factory employment has advanced to the extent of four per cent and that payrolls have jumped eight per cent in the period of a single month—from June to July. This information comes from the Philadelphia Federal Reserve Bank. It is based on reports of 1730 manufacturing plants, which in July employed 346,000 wage earners and had an average weekly payroll of $5,762,000. In this connection operating time also showed a further gain of six per cent over June.

The impressive part of this showing is that it comes at a period when industry was formerly satisfied to mark time instead of advancing. The report says: "These increases were quite unusual, as were those in the previous two months, since normally factory activity slackens considerably in summer months. The fact that the rate of gain in payrolls rose higher than that in working time is probably due to advance in wage rates, which in July were the most numerous since early 1929." Nor can we overlook the fact that the upward movement in factory employment and wage earnings has been steady since March, when a record low level was reached.

Secretary Perkins' announcement that 400,000 factory workers had returned to jobs in July and that weekly wages had increased about $29,000,000 indicates that the improvement in Pennsylvania has been matched in many other states throughout the country.

It is worth calling attention to these figures. They give us substantial reasons for hoping that this return to normal is likely to continue in the months to come. September will be watched with particular interest; if that should show a still further gain, there will be ample cause for universal cheerfulness.

POLICE COOPERATION NEEDED

Since the beginning of the century there has been a tendency to extend the federal police powers and to romanticize the federal police service much as the world has done with the Canadian Mounted and with England's Scotland Yard. This can be carried too far, especially at a time when kidnapping and racketeering have worked the public into a hysteria.

Hearings of the senate racketeering committee have revealed a positive movement toward the extension of the police power of the federal government to all felonies and toward a shifting of public dependency from the local police to the bureau of investigation at Washington.

Warden Lawes, of Sing Sing, shows his attitude toward the current trends in his testimony that the re-establishing of the odds in favor of the law as against the criminal and his crime does not require martial law. His confidence is in the mace of the city policeman.

It is justly complained that the community law enforcement agencies, especially in the larger cities, are the toys of powerful politicians, many of whom hold their power by the strong arm of the criminal and racketeer. But the federal police service is not entirely free from subversive influences.

America's crime problem does not justify martial law, but it does demand closer cooperation between all the forces of law enforcement.

PROSPERITY SMOKE

Your nose may not know but your lungs do that business is picking up. There is more dirt in the air we breathe than there was a year ago when fewer factory fires were burning.

A sample of air taken in Central Park, New York, contained impurities weighing one and fifty-nine hundredths tons per cubic mile. Last year a sample taken at the same place weighed one and twenty-one hundredths tons. The 1930 rate was three and eighty-two hundredths tons.

There can be but one explanation for the greater weight this year. Industrial activity is up several points and visibility down an equal number of points. It seems that modern man cannot work without befouling the air he breathes. When he most needs pure air he breathes the least pure.

One of the compensations for the depression was the purification of the air we breathe as factory fires burned themselves out. One of the compensations for the loss of this purer air as business picks up will be the more nourishing food the new prosperity will bring to many.

Let prosperity pollute the air again if it also pollutes the pockets with a little coin of the realm.

WEATHER CONTROL

Perhaps it may interest those who feel that they would dispense rainfall in a vastly different way from nature's method if they were in control, to know that the handling of the weather would be a complicated job. Even meteorologists could not tell them all the factors with which they would have to deal. They could assure them that St. Swithin's day has nothing to do with the weather, nor the moon's horns, either, but beyond such negations their explanations would not go far toward making clear to the layman just what he could let himself in for if he should undertake to distribute rainfall and otherwise regulate atmospheric conditions.

Of course, scientists could explain the process of condensation so far as to depend upon the presence in the air of microscopic particles, known as "condensation nuclei," around which rain drops form when the moisture of the atmosphere is cooled to the point of condensation, but they would proceed rather hesitatingly, the layman would find, when they came to such mysteries as the possible factor of electrification in the development of rain drops of such weight that they will fall to the earth.

Everything considered, therefore, it seems that man is still far from conquering the weather. Probably that is just as well. The confusion that would result from human control might prove worse than the present system, unsatisfactory as it is. There would be dry blocs and wet blocs. How could the weather engineer satisfy the golfer and the gardener on the same afternoon.

This era is also doing something for the forgotten manners.
Confiscation of property is wicked bolshevism. The nice way is to make the tax too high and then take it for taxes.

HELPING PARENTS

It is unwise for old-time friends, visiting in a home where there are children, to relate foolish experiences of youthful days, involving the children's father and mother.

Youthful infractions of home or school rules impress children, and there is a double interest where their own parents are concerned.

There is a natural deduction that if Dad and Mother did thus and so when they were young, they have a right to pattern after them.

But parents have seen the folly of their own doings and have also observed the tendencies of their children.

They are wondering how they can help the children over that period and keep them out of certain mischief.

Then come the old friends, perhaps after many long years of separation and they begin to "remind."

The parents seem to get a lot of amusement out of the tales of when they were young and broke the rules, so it looks to the kiddies.

Most parents find it hard enough to impress their children with the things they should avoid as they grow up.

Visiting friends can do a lot of damage, and find themselves unwelcome, as guests, if they are indiscreet in their revelations of personal infractions.

LINES FOR DOUBTERS

I write these lines for doubting men:
Of self-timidly beware.

One never knows the moment when
A flash of luck will banish care.

Hold fast and give no heed to fear;
Battle the stream until you sink;

Failure is never quite so near
As frightened people seem to think.

If now disaster sweeps away
The little grain you thought to hold,

While still in health and strength
You stay
You history's only partly told.
There still are left new goals to gain;

'Tis only those who cease to strive
For whom no future hopes remain.
Don't die while you are yet alive.

Grieve if you must a little while O'er what has happened, but Return

Head high and brave and with a smile
The vision of your loss to learn.
Forget the past and face today
With courage and with mind alert.
Who comes a victor from the fray
Remember not that he was hurt.

Give not your thoughts to bleak despair.
Let failure never hold you down.
Out of the fearful swamps of care
Strong men have struggled to renoun.

What if the future dark appears?
Fight to the last and don't give in.

Before you lies another year
And somewhere is your chance to win.

Aid For Suburban Farming Believed To Promise Change

Readjustment Of Population Is Foreseen By Some Americans As Result Of Government Grant Of $25,000,000 To Assist Migrating City Dwellers

Promise of future population changes is believed by some Americans to be involved in the allotment of $25,000,000 from Federal funds to aid subsistence farming near the cities of the country. A substantial "back to the farm" movement is reported under way, and with the momentum to be imparted by the funds provided, it is predicted by some observers that a permanent condition will be developed. It is believed to offer safe auxiliary support for some industrial or business workers.

"Of specialization in farming," thinks the DAYTON DAILY NEWS, "there will undoubtedly be more and more. Of mechanization there will be here more, there less. And there will always be the fundamental difference between the farmer who farms as a business and the farmer who farms as an artist. The suburban farmer who thinks of his acres primarily as a home will be one thing; the ranchman on his far-flung empire of blooded cattle and sheep will be another. Some natures will be served by one situation, other natures by the other. In the history of human nature there is plenty of evidence that the plans of the president for a combination of rural and industrial advantages will meet the yearnings of vast numbers of people. Are not the roomy suburbs to which the wealthy of the cities have fled a sufficient witness to that?"

"Theoretically, it seems to be the sort of population readjustment that will increase self-support and develop better citizenship," according to the SANTA MONICA EVENING OUTLOOK, which holds that "the possibilities in the proposal are great," and offers the suggestions: "A better distribution of population with regard to employment is highly desirable, and may well be regarded as an essential feature of National economic planning. Through the coming years, industries might be transplanted from teeming cities to suburbs or country cities, the human benefit in terms of a better living and greater individual self-dependence would be incalculable."

It is pointed out by the YOUNGSTOWN VINDICATOR that the bureau of reclamation of the Department of the Interior "has been providing homes for unemployed for years, but its activity has been confined to arid regions in the West." Of the present movement, the VINDICATOR offers the endorsement: "The fact that this work has demonstrated that such a movement as subsistence farming can be self-financing gives added interest to the administration's plan of combining the farm and factory system. It is not a back to the farm movement that is proposed, but a rural home movement as security against industrial risks."

"The movement is one of the most attractive features of the domestic recovery program," declares the CLEVELAND PLAIN DEALER. That paper suggests that "it will not be easy to restrict agricultural production and to increase agricultural population at the same time," but offers the prediction: "In the beginning it is expected the new farm population will be located on small farms and will engage primarily in raising food and vegetable products for its own consumption. In due time perhaps bountiful harvest will again be a boon instead of a bane and in that event the new agricultural population will no longer be looked upon as an enemy by the old."

"The government is taking on a big job to turn thousands of urban families back to the farms," in the opinion of the TOPEKA DAILY CAPITAL, "but it is a worth-while project. Just the same, and much good can be accomplished for future years." The OSHKOSH DAILY NORTHWESTERN looks forward to "farming on some of the unimproved and uncleared land in northern Wisconsin," and advises as to future treatment of the matter in that State: "There is a large amount of such land, much of it having reverted to the state on account of unpaid taxes. Not a little of it would be suitable for farming if properly cleared, planted and cultivated. The state could well afford to be pretty lenient with settlers on this land, helping them to clear it and eliminating all or most of the tax burden for a term of years. In the end the settlers would hold their property free from debt, win a living from the soil and be able to pay some return to the state in taxes. Now the land is unproductive either of crops or tax revenues."

"Farm homes occupied by non-agricultural workers" are seen by the PHILADELPHIA EVENING BULLETIN to have increased, and the BULLETIN comments on these developments: "Though not farming for profit, this class doubtless wrings sustenance from the soil, raising all or a part of the family food." The CHARLOTTE OBSERVER, speaking of the development of life in such communities, states: "The slide to the populous centers has been checked and arrested. It has been definitely held up not only, but it is being held up in the other direction. The people are returning to the country-side. Statistically it is provable that more people are today residing in rural

Picnic At Edgewood Complete Success

Three Sunday Schools Take Part In Joint Outing On Friday

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 19.—When one Sunday school holds a picnic it is usually a merry occasion but when three combine for the annual event it is a triple and outstanding success. The one held by the North Sewickley Presbyterian, Providence Baptist and Concord M. E. Sunday schools yesterday at Edgewood on the Beaver Falls road proved to be no exception.

Ball games were the principal diversions of the morning and a basketball contest between the Presbyterian and Baptist girls was won by the latter and a baseball game between the Presbyterian and Baptist churches was decided in favor of the Presbyterians.

Appetites were keyed to a high pitch again 1 o'clock and the 250 members and friends attending and who were seated at long tables in the pretty grove done ample justice to the well prepared dinner served by the ladies of the congregations. Suitable awards for contests ranging from foot races, wheelbarrow races, cracker eating, needle threading and ball throwing contests were won by Raymond Miller, Virginia Haen, Robert Nye, Martha Irons, Earl Miller, Vesta Swick, Paul Thomas, Lois Duncan, Kenneth Crowe, Robert Sheehan, Stella Tanchuk, David Douglas, Mrs. Fred Swick, Albert Hartsell and Mrs. Roy McDanel.

A lovely gift was presented Mrs. E. J. Thompson for being the oldest person attending and another to Gladys Esther Martin for being the youngest present.

Following the serving of a delicious 9 o'clock breakfast by the hostess, three tables of bridge were in play. Mrs. Lola Brown of Rochester and Mrs. Helen Townsend of Beaver Falls were presented with the high score awards at the close of the games. Those present then went to watch the lowering and dismantling of the Harmony Line trestle at the Country Club.

Miss Jane Weigle Hostess To Club

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 19.—Miss Jane Weigle was a charming hostess to the members of the C. S. A. club last night at her home in Knox plan with eight present. Miss Mildred Barr, who is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hazen in Frisco, was a special guest on the occasion.

Miss Ora Zehner of New York City and Mr. and Mrs. Alan Brown of Fort Hope, Canada, who are house guests of friends in this city.

Bridge at five tables occupied the attention of the guests throughout the evening and at the conclusion of the games lovely prizes were awarded Mrs. Harold Seidel and Martin Anderson for high scores and Mrs. E. J. Liebenrofer for the low score. At a seasonable hour a dainty collation was served by the hostess at the small tables.

Sharing the event besides the honor guests were: Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Painter, Mr. and Mrs. Van Court Carr of Youngstown, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Liebenrofer, Mr. and Mrs. William D. Manning, Dr. and Mrs. C. B. Biscaglia, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Seidel and the hosts.

Surprise Honors Rev. And Mrs. Woods

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 19.—Rev. Harold Woods, pastor of the Hickory Knell church of God, and Mrs. Woods were the victims of a pleasant surprise last evening. After the regular prayer meeting held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Galaher of the Ellwood-Zellenople road, they were invited into the dining room where about fifty members of the congregation and friends gathered around and each in turn presented them with a pound of some edible article. Both Rev. and Mrs. Woods voiced their appreciation in a gracious manner.

The remaining hours passed quickly and were spent in an enjoyable manner with games and music being the desirable pastimes. An added feature of the evening was the serving of a tempting luncheon by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Frank Dunbar, Mrs. Jay McDonald and Mrs. Lena Crana.

Girls Get "New Deal"

Edith M. Gates

To get the girls out of the bleachers and on to the playing field is the "new deal" for young women, according to Miss Edith M. Gates, newly elected chairman of the women's division of the National Amateur Athletic federation. The bleachers have a tendency to attract too many girls, she states. Summer Welles Rewarded For Excellent Work

President Roosevelt Will Recall Ambassador To Washington For Duty

CAFFREY TO GET
POST IN CUBA

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Highly pleased with the manner in which Ambassador Summer Welles handled the delicate situation in Cuba, President Roosevelt intends to recall him shortly to Washington to help direct the movement for development of closer trader relations with the nations of the western hemisphere.

He will be succeeded at Havana by Jefferson Caffrey, who will be elevated to the rank of ambassador in reward for his handling of the Cuban situation from this end.
Mr. Roosevelt has not yet decided on the exact date when he will recall Welles. It depends upon the situation in Cuba.

Welles will be in charge of laying the groundwork for the 7th Pan American conference to be held in Montevideo, Uruguay, in December.
This government hopes to develop a Pan-American trade alliance at that gathering of the nations of Central and South America.

Plan No Organized Canning Effort In City This Summer

Demand For Cans Exists
Among Unemployed, Red
Cross Notes

No organized canning effort is being planned in New Castle this summer, it was learned at the offices of the Red Cross this morning.
The work has been organized and supervised by the Federation of Women's clubs in the past, their work being of an educational nature to get people interested in canning and showing them the best methods.
There is a demand for cans again
this year, Secretary Orville Potter of the Lawrence county chapter, American Red Cross states, and any persons who have a surplus of cans which they wish to donate may leave them at the Red Cross office.

DUKE'S SECOND DUCHESS LEAVES

Consuelo Vanderbilt The Duke Gladys Marie Deacon

American wives just do not seem to be able to reside permanently in the castle of the Duke of Marlborough, former under-secretary taken possession of the house and service had been discontinued.

Great Day As Home Is Saved

Family To Get Home
Loan

NOTABLES ATTEND FINE CEREMONY

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 18.—The dreaded spectres of foreclosure and eviction no longer hovered over the home of Mr. and Mrs. John P.
Flanagan today. They had been dispelled by Uncle Sam.

The ceremony yesterday when Mr.
Flanagan received a $1500 loan to save the house from the Home Owners Loan Corporation was the biggest moment in his 70 years of life. City, state and national representatives of the corporation surrounded him as he became the first person in the United States to receive a loan from the government.

At his side was the "sweetest girl in the world" whom he took to that home nine years ago as a bride.

Tears rolled down Flanagan's cheeks as Jacob H. Mays, state manager of the corporation, handed him the $1500 loan which wiped away fears that had tormented the aged couple for many months.

"Franklin D. Roosevelt is going down in history as the greatest president of them all," he remarked in a brief speech.

NRA 'Honor Roll' Reaches 800 Today

Postmaster Adds Third List
This Morning—Number
Still Grows

A third batch of names of over 200 local employers who have signed up to comply to President Roosevelt's NRA program was posted in the postoffice lobby today by Postmaster Lake S. MacNab. The local
"honor roll" now numbers over 800 names.

The list came from the department of commerce's district office at Philadelphia.

Postmaster MacNab said the list does not complete the number who have obligated themselves here.

Altoona Contractor Strangles To Death

Chicken Bone In Windpipe Fatal To Man On Eve Of 25th Wedding Anniversary

(International News Service)
ALTOONA, Pa., Aug. 19.—A chicken bone which lodged in his wind pipe on the eve of his twenty-fifth wedding anniversary today had caused the death of David I.
Gorsuch, 62, prominent contractor and building inspector for the Altoona school district.

Gorsuch died of strangulation late last night at the Mercy hospital. He had planned to celebrate his wedding anniversary with his wife today.

He was associated with Pittsburgh contractors in the erection of many buildings, notably the Soldiers and Sailors Home in Pittsburgh.

Business Shows Increase Result Of N. R. A. Sales

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—NRA activities have already brought an increase in retail business and the current week's records should reveal even bigger gains, Grover A.
Whalen, city chairman of the emergency reemployment committee, said today.

Sales in 12 large department stores in New York City increased business five per cent in the first two weeks of August over the 1932 period.

Whalen said. This was the first time in 28 months, he said, such a showing had been noted.

This is a most healthy sign," said Whalen. "and I look for improvement as NRA activities continue.
The drive has now reached the point where the wage earner has for at least a week had the advantage of a job, shorter hours or an increase in pay."

Primary Battle Is Month Hence

Army Of Candidates In The Lineup; Many Close Contests

DEMOCRATS SEE PRIMARY BATTLE

One month today, by the date, and the annual jousting of political candidates takes place in the ninety one precincts of Lawrence county. The primary election, one of the most important in this county in years takes place on September 19 and the fireworks of the campaign, if an, will begin to illuminate the landscape within the next few days. Few primary elections in years have been fraught with so many uncertainties as the one this year. Candidates who might be expected to be strong have to contend with large fields of contenders who have little chance to win but are very serious threats to the success of the others. In the badly split fields for many of the offices, anything might happen and a dark horse is just liable to take down any one of the Republicans in the Republican party.

Even the Democrats are holding a primary election this year, strange as it may seem. For many years the Democrat primary has been little more than a gesture. In many cases candidates did not even file papers but had their names written in by a few friends. This year there is a real battle on in at least two offices, with some repercussions promised later within the party.

Up until now the work of the candidates has been more or less of a missionary nature. Voters as a rule do not begin to adhere to particular candidates until a month before the primary. From now on the actual tying up of votes, singly and in blocks will be under way. The race just now resembles a horse race with a large list of entries. They are bunched now but in a couple of weeks the leaders will begin to nose out ahead of the pack, but the finish on September 19 promises to be what is known in horse race circles as a "whipping finish".

Reasonable Wages For Housework Are Sought By Y. W. C. A.

Better Wages, Shorter Hours For Maids Are Sought By Women's Agency

Although the present NRA code does not definitely provide minimum wages for maid service and housekeeping, the women's employment bureau of the New Castle Y. W. C. A. is endeavoring to keep the wage scale as near to the reasonable rate as possible.

This bureau has been able to do to some extent by suggesting the proper wage to the people asking for maids and housekeepers. Sometimes the employers follow the suggestions; more often they find themselves able to pay only three dollars a week in addition to the room and board. The bureau believes that maids should be paid a minimum of five dollars a week and housekeepers a minimum of seven or eight dollars.

Under the "service class" of the NRA code (this would include maid service) a 48 hour week has been ordered. The Y. W. C. A. is trying in every way possible to secure shorter working hours for girls hired through its agency. The association believes that girls hired for maid service should have the same hours as girls clerking in stores, that they should not be required to take care of children nor have other duties belonging to housekeepers.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Alexander, Miss Florence Nickel and Vincent Rape have left for Chicago, where they will attend the Century of Progress.

Candidates Drawing For Ballot Places

Drawing for places on the primary ballot is taking place at the county commissioners office this afternoon. The candidates draw numbers from a hat and the number they get, designates the place they will have on the ballot. It is usually figured that first place on the ballot will mean some extra votes, as there are quite a number of voters, who are supposed to mark the first name. County Commissioners Clerk, William A. Eakin, announces that next Tuesday is the last day on which candidates can withdraw their names. So far there has been no offers to withdraw.

Final Day To Enter Tennis Tourney Here

Entries Close At 6 o'Clock Tonight In Fourth Annual Tennis Tourney

SEVERAL STARS SEEKING TITLE

Tonight at 6 o'clock is the deadline for entries in the fourth annual New Castle tennis championship play, being sponsored by the Kirk Hutton Company. The pairings for the first round matches will be made by Tully Calazza, tourney director and Hymie Levine Sunday and the tourney will get under way Tuesday, August 22.

There is considerable interest for the tourney here. Tennis is becoming more and more popular in New Castle. There are about four times as many courts in the city today as there were two or three years ago. The younger boys and girls are taking up the game, and are enjoying it.

Johnson In Tourney
George Johnson, one of the city's best tennis players and senior champion the first year of the tennis tourney idea here, has entered the 1933 tourney and predicts that Lowell Wingerd is going to have his hands full. Wingerd on the other hand seems to be at the top of his game this year, having won the Chautauque Lake championship and is advancing toward the finals in the Northwestern tourney at Erie.

Harold Baer, Dan Carroll, Joe McFate, Francis Sowersby, Bob Lamore, and others are out gunning for Wingerd this year and it looks like a great tourney, according to Howard Kirk.

The trophies for the champions have been ordered and will be here any day. They will be on display in the Kirk Hutton window. There will not be any midget tourney this year, only Seniors and Juniors.

Nearly 100 Entered
Mr. Calazza said today that there are nearly 100 in the tourney and that the tennis lovers of New Castle are bound to see some classy matches played in the next few weeks that the championship will be in progress.

Remember the entry list will be closed tonight, so you had better hurry down to Kirk Hutton and Company and get signed up. There is no cost. It only takes the ambition to play tennis.

Tommy Jones, aspires to take the crown won by Lester "Bus" Reiber of the Junior champion this year. Jones was the runnerup last year to Reiber, and feels confident this year of taking the title. Reiber will be back in the tourney with a bigger and better tennis game. Ray Must, former junior champion will be in the senior list this year.

Orrs To Play Bessemer Team
Orrs baseball team will play the fast Bessemer team at Lawrence County league game this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the Lehigh field. Either Coates or Houk will take the mound for the Orrs, with the Bessemer pitcher not selected as yet.

SWIMMERS MAY ENTER CLAIRTON POOL MEET
Amateur swimmers of New Castle will get an opportunity to participate in a championship swimming meet at Clairton on Thursday, August 31, the Y. M. C. A., here announced today after receiving particulars of the competition from the Allegheny Mountain Association, sponsors of the meet.

The affair is held under the sanction of the Amateur Athletic union and is open to all registered amateurs in the association.

He belongs to Our Suit and Overcoat Club—you should join.

Bastol Wins Hurling Duel From Lowers In League Game

CRAFTON GETS TWO OF THEIR FOUR HITS

Colored Monarchs blanked the Orr A. C. four to nothing in a Lawrence loop game yesterday on Cedar Street field. Bastol outpitched Lowers. He struck out five and allowed only four safe bolls while Lowers fanned four and was touched for 10 hits. Both teams played errorless ball and the three base hit ball was entered by Grim. Crafton made a pair of doubles. Johnson, Van Eman, Rolland and Mollie also hit two base bolls.

OILS TOP CATHOLICS.

IF ONE CARES TO SEE A PROFESSIONAL CHAMPION he must pay a wad of dough but a few nights ago the fans had a chance to see one of the boys who carried Uncle Sam's amateur boxing banner all over the world. He was Charlie Cravotta now of New Kensington. He won one Olympic 147-pound title and was runner-up on the team last year. He stowed away Eddie Fowler and in connection with the bout it might be appropriate to pass a platter of boosts to Bebe Biondi, deputy for Hovey Boyle, Pennsylvania commissioner. Cravotta entered the ring wearing vaseline on his ears and above his eyes, believing the gloves would skid off without leaving abrasions. Sam Leyshock, who happens to be county detective for Mercer county, was the referee. He ordered Cravotta to remove it. Charlie objected. Leyshock reported this to Biondi. "Take it off. You are no better than any one else," said Biondi. Leyshock had Cravotta wipe it off. Biondi was boosted for his sharp action.

Farrell Enters Hall Of Fame By No-Hit Contest

Princeton's Ace Pitcher Farrell Hurls No-Hit Game Against Rose Point

Farrell, the pitching star of the Princeton team, had a new lease on life today as the result of pitching a no-hit game last night at the Princeton field against the Rose Point team in an independent tourney game. Princeton won the game 10 to 1.

Five walks which eventually gave Rose Point a run spoiled the perfect game, but nevertheless Farrell gets credit in the Hall of Fame with a no-hit performance. He whiffed 11 batters. Princeton had seven hits off White and made enough runs in the first two innings to win the game.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND
Thursday evening a crowd of Jefferson A. C. fans of this city traveled to Farrell to witness the Farrell Boosters amateur boxing show. Among them were Jimmie Dime, who has some amateurs, and the writer. In one of the bouts a mute fought. When this was announced the writer leaned toward Dime and said: "Say, Jim, do you remember a fellow by the name of Dummy Martin?" Jimmie smiled, for Martin tried to pull a fast one and almost succeeded when he boxed George Chip in New York. After the bell sounded Martin nailed Chip on the jaw and almost put him away. George took no chances after that. The sight of a mute fighting at Farrell was nothing unusual. There have been quite a few mutes in the ring.

After watching the amateurs in several shows here lately the writer noticed that they have a better ring wardrobe than the professionals. Take a big number in the pro world. He will wear a towel across his shoulders as he enters the ring, but not so the amateur. They have silk robes and are outfitted with all sorts of ring necessities such as protection cups, mouthpieces, etc. They get them as prizes and they are worthwhile. And anytime you hear a chap say that the amateurs can "go" just smile. No one could expect more than they have been showing at Farrell, Youngstown, Butler, Ellwood City and other places in the A. M. A. district.

If one cares to see a professional champion he must pay a wad of dough but a few nights ago the fans had a chance to see one of the boys who carried Uncle Sam's amateur boxing banner all over the world. He was Charlie Cravotta now of New Kensington. He won one Olympic 147-pound title and was runner-up on the team last year. He stowed away Eddie Fowler and in connection with the bout it might be appropriate to pass a platter of boosts to Bebe Biondi, deputy for Hovey Boyle, Pennsylvania commissioner. Cravotta entered the ring wearing vaseline on his ears and above his eyes, believing the gloves would skid off without leaving abrasions. Sam Leyshock, who happens to be county detective for Mercer county, was the referee. He ordered Cravotta to remove it. Charlie objected. Leyshock reported this to Biondi. "Take it off. You are no better than any one else," said Biondi. Leyshock had Cravotta wipe it off. Biondi was boosted for his sharp action.

Frank Jerry and Alf Snyder, two of the amateur marathon grinders of this city, are pounding the pavement today as they entered the West View-Ross township firemen's event.

It is being run under the sanction of the A. M. A. of the Amateur Athletic union. Jerry is a veteran at the game. Snyder has been running for several years.

What they are doing: Jack McDonald, former manager of U. S. Carpenter, is now managing amateurs. U. S. is teaching boxing in West Virginia. Phil Goldstein, who fought Andrucci here, is coach of the Y. M. H. A., Pittsburgh. Jimmy Dime is preparing Louie Storte and Jimmy Brownfield for amateur bouts. Tommy Leach has about a dozen training in Home street. Benny Rocco, Dave Helmer and M. F. Book of Ellwood City have amateurs. Carl Rio, brother to Frankie, is the matchmaker for the Farrell club. Jimmy Dunn gives pointers to Babe Salupa and other good amateurs of Cleveland.

Quite a crowd of fans will go from here Monday to see the Joe Dundee-Teddy Yaros 10 round state midweight championship fight which will be held at Forbes Field, Pittsburgh. The boys have been training for several weeks. There is plenty of interest in the bout. Officials for the battle have not yet been selected.

Babe Ruth was forced to retire from the New York-St. Louis game at St. Louis yesterday when one of McDonald's pitches struck him on the ankle which was bruised considerably. He may play today.

Boro Wins In Pitching Duel

Duncan Outpitches Davies As Boro Takes 2 To 1 Victory

Duncan had the better of Davies last night at the Ryantown field in an independent league game by scoring a 1 to 0 in a five inning victory. Both pitchers allowed but two hits apiece. Duncan was the better in the pinches. Three walks by Davies spelled disaster.

Shoaff had the only extra-base hit of the game, a double, and scored the lone run for the Boro A. C. The summary:

Cutic And Sheets Classy Amateurs
Cutic won two tourneys and runner up in two others.

WEST PITTSBURG BOY MEETS ROSSI
Fans who have watched Midget Wolgast and Willie Davies in action in professional battles here will see a graceful pair of amateur boxers when Midge Cutic of Youngstown and Kid Sheets of Beaver Falls meet in the Jefferson Athletic Club's show at Castle bowl, August 28.

Sheets is reputed to be one of the classiest amateurs developed in the Beaver Valley. He has been meeting all flyweights and with Cutic as his foe there should be oodles of class and punch when this brace enters the ring.

Cutic, according to reports twice won the Cleveland Plain Dealer Golden Gloves flyweight championship and was runner-up in two other tournaments. His ambition is to box in the national amateur tournament and has no present intention of turning professional.

He is in training at East Youngstown while Sheets is prepping at Beaver Falls. Due to the fact that they box often in amateur bouts they are in good physical condition but practice make perfect when skill and punch is demanded.

Adamo On Card
Tony Adamo, the pride of the Jefferson A. C. members, likes the fans who have watched him score knockout after knockout in training at the clubroom in West Home street. He is scheduled to box either Paul Kravack of Ellwood City or some other good 145 pounder.

At the present time he is stand-out prominently in the welterweight class and if he continues to train faithfully and turn in victories it may not be long until he mills against the best in the A. M. A. of the A. U. district.

Rich Gregory, 122, of Butler and Nick Galore, also 122, of New Kensington have boxed many times. According to other amateur boxers either of them will go up or down the ladder when they tangle here.

This battle should prove very attractive.

Fix Rodenbaugh Hurls Spectacular Game For Polish

W. SOHO MAKES HARD PUTOUT

Polish Nationals trounced the West Side Tigers four to nothing Friday in a Lawrence County league game on the Lee avenue ground. Fix Rodenbaugh held the Tigers to a trio of hits. He fanned seven and passed none.

The only ball hit out of the infield looked like a home run but James' clout was pulled down by W. Soho who made a spectacular catch.

He went after the blow which sailed along the foul line. He reached out his bare left hand and made the out for which he received a load of cheers. The box score:

the "iron" season rapidly want a large crowd of Legion of members is expected to be present for the weekly golf match on the Municipal course, Monday morning.

Last week, the Legion of Honor is combined to down the Service Division golfers, but Monday finds the Sweesy and Chapman teams doing battle again. Refreshing will follow in the club house during the match.

Eastern Grid Team Selected
(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—Dick Hanley, coach of the eastern all-star football team, announced today a tentative starting lineup to face the western machine in their battle here at Soldier field next Thursday night.

The starting backfield will be composed of Harry Newman of Michigan, quarterback; Don Zimmerman of Tulane and Bud Rentner of Northwestern, halfbacks, and Roy Horstman of Purdue, fullback.

Wesley Fesler of Ohio State and Brad Robinson of Minnesota will start at ends; Jack Riley, Northwestern and Joe Kurth, Notre Dame, tackles; Jim Harris, Notre Dame and Clarence Munn of Minnesota, guards, and Larry Ely of Nebraska, center.

When pain can't bless, heaven quits us in despair.—Young.

There's a great difference between "knowing" that you can make a shot and just "thinking" you can make it.

"Knowing" is to have a feeling of absolute sureness—a feeling which generally produces a successful swing.

"Thinking" that you can do a certain thing on a golf course means that you simply hope you can do it.

Senators Keep String Intact

Ten Straight Have Been Tucked Away By Penant Bound Washington Club

Defeating the Chicago White Sox yesterday, the Nats made 11 ten games in a row, a new mark this season for the league. They open a series today with the declasser St. Louis Browns and have a fair chance to beat the 1926 record of the New York Yankees, who won 16 straight games.

Shooting at the National League mark is another thing for in 1926 the New York Giants ran their winning string to 26 games. Other notable long wins include 19 by the Chicago White Sox in 1906, 17 by Washington in 1912 and 15 by Brooklyn in 1924.

Bluege Wins Game
A single by Ossie Bluege in the tenth scored two runs to wrap it up for the Senators over the battling alabamers. Jack Russell was the winning hurler, taking over for Al Thomas in the seventh after the Chicagoans tied the score. Russell held the Sox to two singles in the four sessions.

Scout Troops Conclude Five Days At Camp

Cabin Is Presented To Girls On Last Afternoon At Cascade Park

OVER HUNDRED GIRLS PRESENT EVERY DAY

Crowned by the presentation of a small log cabin to the Girl Scouts of New Castle as a gift from the Pennsylvania Power company, the "day camp" which has been conducted at Cascade park for the past five days came to a termination Friday afternoon.

Girl Scout council and troop leaders can look back on day camp with satisfaction for it proved even more successful and better attended than those in charged dared hope for. Well over 100 Girl Scouts from every troop of the city attended the camp every day.

Mrs. Sidney L. Smith was director. She was ably assisted by a staff of counselors chosen from the ranks of the city's troop leaders. Each day's program was launched at 9 o'clock in the morning, continuing to after 4 in the afternoon. Similar to the program conducted each year at the annual Girl Scout camp at Kennedy's Mills, the purpose, that was, to bring camp life to those girls unable to attend the annual camp, was fulfilled most gratifyingly.

A number of visitors were present to witness Friday afternoon's program.

Presents Log Cabin.

C. C. Coulthard, superintendent of Cascade park, introduced L. B. Round of the Pennsylvania Power company. Mr. Round, after a short talk to the girls and visitors concerning character building, presented a little log cabin nearby to the Girl Scout commissioner, Miss Martha Bigley.

Miss Bigley accepted the cabin in behalf of the Girl Scout organization and presented the key to Mrs. Sidney L. Smith, president of the Girl Scout Leaders' association. She also gave congratulations to Mrs.

Smith and to the counselors for the fine success of the day camp.

The Girl Scouts were most pleased with their new cabin. They had the privilege of beautifying it during the day camp sessions. The camp craft group presented to the cabin a lovely fernery. The name of the cabin's new proprietors "Girl Scouts" was attached to the entrance.

Afternoon Program.

The program of the afternoon was presented in the following order:

Song, "The Far Northland"—Girl Scouts.
Welcome to Our Camp—Girl Scout Patricia Blaine.

Introduction—Mrs. Sidney L. Smith, director.
Presentation of patrol stunts.
Song, "Petticoat Lane"—Girl Scouts.

Stunts of patrols.
Presentation of fernery—Camp craft group.

Presentation of two prizes for second class nature—Mrs. W. H. Hanger.

Presentation of prizes for mapping—Miss Elizabeth Vance.
March down to cabin.

Presentation of cabin by L. B. Round.

Received by Miss Martha Bigley.
Song, "Home, Home on the Range"—Girl Scouts.

Taps.
Cascade park proved to be an ideal spot for the five days of meetings. Swimming was very much enjoyed every day and it went a long way in creating a real camp atmosphere.

Several special surprises and treats featured the days. Splendid cooperation was shown by C. C. Coulthard and Billy Glenn in every wish of the young scouts.

Counselors who so capably had charge of the camp were:

Mrs. Harry Wetlich, second class nature, assisted by Miss Edith Cleveland and Miss Elizabeth Gibson.

Mrs. Alfreda Dodds, assisted by Miss Elizabeth Vance and Miss Mildred Cannon.

Miss Regina Popp, mapping, assisted by Miss Martha McGill and Mrs. Ruth Ferver.

Miss Mary Jane McClintock, camp craft, assisted by Miss Lois Marion Smith.

Swimming, Miss Edna Raney.
Junior counselors, Misses Georgie Parker, Beatrice Connor, Ruth Connor and Donna Jean Beall.

Nurse, Mrs. Harry K. Bell.
Mrs. E. W. Guy assisted.

Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus Arrives In City Early Today

Carrying the largest traveling wild animal menagerie in the world, Hagenbeck-Wallace circus trains arrived in New Castle early this morning.

Unloading began at once, and soon Manager Jess Adkins, his chief-of-staff, Ira Watts and other show executives had a city of twenty tents in process of construction, on the South Mill street lot.

Performances will take place at 2 and 8 p. m. with doors open an hour early to allow plenty of time for visiting the huge zoological display which includes thirty cages of rare wild animals and tropical birds, twenty-nine elephants, twenty-two camels, herds of zebras and llamas.

Vast changes have been made in the Hagenbeck-Wallace program since the show last appeared here.

Clyde Beatty, with additional honors heaped on his broad shoulders through his work in the movies, remains one of the outstanding displays.

Beatty will send over 30 snarling and vicious lions and tigers through their paces in the large steel arena, the only act of its kind in America.

Princess Mu-Kaun of the Padaung Tribe of Burma, who is known as the giraffe-neck woman is also a main show attraction. Mu Kaun's wears 24 brass bands around her neck, weighing approximately 50 pounds.

Among other important troupes will be Poodles Hanneford and family, Bombay, the man from India, the Belletti's, sensational high wire performers; the Flying Hills, the Clark Girls; Agnes Doss and Esma Wilson, aerial gymnasts; Billy Rice Trio; Gregory Brothers and 50 famous clowns—and also innumerable groups of educated horses and other domestic animals. In one display 29 elephants will perform under the direction of Cheerful Gardner.

Attorney Makes "Scare-Crows" To Frighten Birds

E. F. G. Harper Believes He Has Solved Vexed Problem On Boyles Ave.

"Scare-crows", erected by Attorney E. F. G. Harper in the trees in front of his home on Boyles avenue, are helping to scare away the "grackles", a species of blackbird, that have been annoying the citizens along that thoroughfare.

In the evening and in the early morning the trees are covered with the birds, who make so much noise that they drown the radios. Harper says that he has tried all kinds of experiments, but he finds the "scare-crows" work the best. Folks up that way who have seen Harper's scare-crows, claim that they would frighten anything that flies the air, walks on earth, or dwells in the sea.

All kinds of expedients have been employed by other residents of the street. One man has been pretty successful feeding birds, seed soaked in 32 beer. When the birds get drunk they fall out of the trees, and can be gathered up in a basket. This is a much more humane process than that employed by the police several years ago, when some of the expert shooters used shotguns and littered the streets with the dead and dying.

Some have tried the water cure by turning the hose on the trees, but it didn't work. The birds screamed all the louder, seemingly delighted that they were being given a bath.

Roman candles have been tried but this just seems to make the birds think it is an official welcome.

If Harper's scare-crows continue to do the trick, a new industry will be born.

Brice Announces For Alderman

Appointed By Governor To Fill First Ward Vacancy, Announces For Full Term

Alderman James C. Brice of the First Ward, a property owner of 38 North Jefferson Street, today announces his candidacy for the Republican nomination for the full term. His announcement is directed to the Republican voters of the First Ward and follows:

"In the fall of 1932 when a vacancy occurred in the office of Alderman of the First Ward, occasioned by the resignation of the incumbent, a large group of representative citizens of the ward signed a petition asking His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, to appoint me to fill the vacancy until an election could be held."

"The governor acquiesced to the request and on November 19, 1932, I was appointed and have served since that time. In the months I have served I have endeavored to acquaint myself with the procedure governing the office, to see to it that justice was done to the limit of my jurisdiction, and to make the proper returns to the office of the district attorney speedily and efficiently. To serve properly it was necessary to install a set of equip offices and to provide myself with the proper forms, all of which meant a considerable outlay of money."

"I am a candidate for the nomination on the Republican ticket for the full term. In the time I have been alderman I have served to the best of my ability. The experience of the past months has been of increasing value and if nominated and elected I pledge myself to a strict observance of the law governing the minor judiciary, to deal fairly and impartially with those having business in the office, and to conduct the office at all times in a manner that will bear the closest scrutiny."

Firm Here Reports NRA Eager To Help Code Problem Solved Quickly By Washington Office—Shows Interest Proof that New Castle employers are not being overlooked in the maze of detail work which confronts the busy National Recovery administration at Washington was to be found today when a letter was mailed to a manufacturing firm here, quickly and intelligently answering a communication which it forwarded to headquarters after signing the president's blanket code. The Pearson Brick company received a prompt reply to a letter which pointed out to NRA officials that a certain contract provision of the blanket code created a problem for them. The government's letter today explained everything fully. Similar requests of New Castle plants, it was indicated, would bring the full support of the NRA national and local organizations behind any problem arising under the codes.
